

The Andrew W. Mellon Summer Academy and Undergraduate Curatorial Fellowship Program at the Art Institute of Chicago

Have you ever wondered....
 What is a CURATOR and what do they do?
 How are EXHIBITIONS created?
 What SKILLS are needed to work in a MUSEUM?

If so, apply to the Summer Academy, a one-week program providing a rich experience in the museum environment with:

- Behind-the-scenes art museum tours
- Workshops with art museum professionals
- Tours of exhibitions with curators
- Networking events with art museum professionals

The Andrew W. Mellon Summer Academy and Undergraduate Curatorial Fellowship Program aim to provide specialized training in the curatorial field for students across the United States from groups historically underrepresented in the curatorial field or those who support the goal of promoting inclusive, pluralistic museums. After completing the Summer Academy, participants will submit supplemental materials for consideration for a Fellowship.
