

The Obama Foundation is excited to host a one-day, in-person community engagement training for 18 to 24 year olds in Chicago. This event will include inspirational workshops that use storytelling, community building, and skills training to teach you how to make change in your community.

Do you care about what's happening in your community and want to be part of creating solutions but don't know how to start? This training is for you. We invite young people who are looking for new ideas and opportunities to get involved to join us for this one day event. This training will help you build the relationships and skills you need to be the change you want to see.

We are committed to bringing together a group of people with diverse viewpoints, backgrounds, socioeconomic status, education levels, religious beliefs, races, and ethnicities. Participants should be open-minded and eager to engage and build relationships with people different from themselves.

This is one of the first events of its kind, and by getting involved, your voice will be integral to shaping the future of The Foundation's programming.

No prior experience necessary. People from all education levels and backgrounds encouraged to apply.

This training will be Saturday, October 14th from 8am - 8pm. Please only apply if you are available to attend the full day.

To apply please complete an application at go.obama.org/chitraining17

About the Obama Foundation

The Obama Foundation is a nonpartisan, nonprofit 501(c)(3) charitable organization. The Foundation will be a living, working center for citizenship in the 21st century -- to identify, train, and connect the next generation of leaders. The Foundation is developing the Obama Presidential Center on the South Side of Chicago to serve as headquarters for the projects it will undertake across the city, the nation, and around the world.
